Electrolux Palenzo plan sales and deal trading

Electrolux Plan sales and deal trading is based on the balance between the direct sales of products and services customers and the introduction of new ANP and growth for your business. Everyone is familiar with the way in which companies and shops make money: buy products by wholesale prices and selling them on the higher prices. The difference in price - margin - their profits. With our product is the same - you make margin for each product sold. But in Electrolux this is not the end of the awards.

1. Retail margin: the price that ANP-and pay for the majority of products ensures Electrolux product margin of approximately 10% if sold by recommended retail prices. However, as with any retailers that is free to set their own margin of your choice.

2. Award for success on the basis of personal sales – Electrolux products rewards ANP's bonus that is calculated on the basis of the range of product sales parties and individual buying.

3. Award for success on the basis of the volume group: ANP may be awarded with additional prizes based on the volume of those introduced in the work or been sponsored. All those that are introduced in the work are considered to be a "group" or "bottom line". Payment of these additional awards are not affecting of the awards paid to groups or bottom lines.

Balance your Job

Monetary rewards are only part of the advantages offered by Electrolux business opportunity. As ANP is becoming more and more successfully by receiving awards for multiple level success, and they were on business trips, and motivational seminars to attractive international locations. Plan rewards SNP not only to the other benefit - Electrolux successful work is based on the balance between selling products and the sponsorship of other people to do the same.
